

Transition means change and we know this can be a very difficult time for young people and their families, so in Calderdale lots of different services have been working together to make it better and easier for you. An important part of this is writing and agreeing the 'Transition Protocol' for Calderdale that is agreed by Councillors and Senior Managers of the services that support you.

The Transition Protocol aims to

Senior Managers have been asked to look at their teams and how they work to support transition and make changes to make them easier and better. We have asked them to complete an evaluation in this year showing how they will make the agreed transition protocol work in their services. We are asking them questions like...

- ? Staff Awareness of Transition Protocol and their responsibilities
- ? What has their service done differently since the protocol was introduced?
- ? How has their service improved communication with young people and their families?
- ? How has feedback from young people and their families made things better in their service?

It is very important we know what you think. If you want to get involved please ask the services you work with about how they support transition. If you have any specific experiences you want to share or suggestions that could make things better for you during times of change please send them to Sam Wasilewski, Calderdale Council
